Welcome

Dear Colleagues,

Public health in India is still in its infancy stage though we have received accolades in eliminating Poliomyelitis, Guinea worm, Yaws, Maternal & Neonatal Tetanus and many are on the verge of elimination. But a lot more needs to be done in this field and improving public health remains a serious challenge. The field of public health is constantly evolving in response to the needs of communities and populations around the world and there is a dire need to establish training facilities for public health specialists along with identifying the scope for their contribution in the field. With the beginning of our School of Public Health, we are contributing in developing future leaders of public health who will improve the health of people regionally, nationally, and globally. This is a multidisciplinary effort towards addressing the current and future challenges in public health.

Director & CEO,
